To the Holiday Buyer:

city twenty times the amount that any other jeweler does. We can positively say that our concern sells more goods in one day than all the rest of the jewelers do in one year. This enables us to buy direct from the manufacturers, which no other retail jeweler can do, as we are jobbers. The difference in price by buying direct from the manufacturers in large quantities is from 33 to 50 per cent. We are retailing every article in our line for the price every jeweler buys at wholesale, and we make more money at the price we are selling than any other retail jeweler at his price of almost 50 per cent profit. The only benefit we derive from retailing our goods at the same price that we sell them wholesale is because we get cash for goods sold at retail, and at wholesale we sell on credit. Every article in our house is marked in plain figures the same as any other first-class house—the only difference is you get 50 per cent off here while the others give you nothing.

We can explain in a few words the reason why we can and are selling high-grade goods, the same as you see in every other first-class jewelry store, for less money than any other dealer. It is because no other jewelry house in this city has the outlet that we have, as we supply thousands of other jewelers, besides we ourselves sell at retail in this city. ## MONSON'S SPEECH

IT IS REGARDED AS A SEMI-OFFICIAL WARNING TO FRANCE.

MORE OPEN THAN INTENDED

ENGLAND AND GERMANY HAPPY AT PROSPECT OF AN ENTENTE.

President McKinley's Message and Secretary Gage's Report Receive Much Attention in London.

Weeklies-On Clayton-Bulwer Treaty.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Associated Press.) LONDON, Dec. 10.—There were two prominent figures in the political arena this week—the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, and the British ambassador at Paris, Sir Edmund J. Monson. The address of the latter to the British chamber of commerce at Paris came like a peal of thunder, causing dismay on both sides of the channel, where many people had affected to discern an already faint outline of a peace rainbow between France and Great Britain as a sequel of the passing over of the Fashoda storm.

The first impression was that Sir Edmund Monson had received a cue from the Marquis of Salisbury to give a candid warning to France that Great Britain is fully determined not to stand any further price-cutting. This opinion still prevails, although it has been somewhat modified by the explanation which the ambassador sent to the French press, and it is now thought that Monson got an official tip to give France a warning, but that he spoke more openly than was intended. The address, however, has served as a reminder to the people of both countries that the fire of the Sudan imbroglio is still smoldering and may burst into flame before it is finally disposed of. The ambassador's warning, according to those qualified to know, was prompted by the fact that the French government, sulking over the Marchand affair, is evading diplomatic discussion pending Anglo-French problems, and was intended to intimate that with the change of French ambassadors at London this week, Baron de Courcelle being succeeded by M. Paul Cambon, the Marquis of Salisbury desired a more active treatment of the points in dispute.

Sir Edmund J. Monson's many frankness is quite characteristic of the ambassador, and won for him the warm friendship of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain. Both of whom asked the British foreign office to send him to their respective capitals when he visited Copenhagen, where he was persona non grata at the court. He chose Vienna.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech on Thursday, embracing the whole range of domestic and foreign politics, aroused as much interest abroad as at home. He forecasted the ministerial domestic legislation of the coming session and then held out the olive branch to every foreign country except France, to which he administered a salutary caution which has been but little related there, and which evoked all sorts of newspaper threats to thwart Great Britain's projects.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke lukewarmly on the subject of old age pensions, once his pet scheme, and refrained from promising the bill which had been expected on the subject. But he promised five measures

COURT DECISIONS

SEVERAL OF IMPORTANCE HANDED DOWN AT TOPEKA YESTERDAY.

VICTORY FOR ALEX WARNER

SUPREME COURT SAYS HE WAS CONVICTED WRONGFULLY.

George Taylor, the Argentine Banker, Must Serve His Term—Fort Scott Poll Tax Ordinance Knocked Out—Several Railroad Cases.

TOPEKA, Dec. 10.—(Special.) The state supreme court today brought gladness to one unfortunate Kansas banker and sorrow to another. It reversed the decision of the lower court in the Alexander Warner case. This is what Colonel Warner wanted, and of course, is happy. The banker who did not so well is George A. Taylor, cashier of the defunct Argentine Bank. His application to be released from prison on a writ of habeas corpus was denied and he will have to serve out his term.

Warner was convicted on the charge of receiving deposits in his Baxter bank knowing it was insolvent, on four counts. He was sentenced to a year on each count. That tribunal today reversed the decision of the lower court. In the syllabus it said: "Where the defendant is charged with having been the president of an incorporated bank which was insolvent and having knowingly accepted and received deposits, knowing the bank to be insolvent, in order to sustain a conviction the proof must show that the defendant had some direct personal connection with the receipt or acceptance of the deposits. The fact that he was president of the bank and in a back room at the time the deposits were received and that he knew the bank was open for business are insufficient to sustain a conviction under such a charge."

George Taylor was convicted of wrecking the Argentine bank and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He has now served about a year. His attorneys a few weeks ago filed an application to secure his release from prison on the grounds that the law under which he was convicted was never passed by the legislature. In reversing the application the supreme court said: "While legislative journals, as public records, may be looked at for the purpose of ascertaining whether a statute, parts of which they affirmatively show were duly passed, was in reality enacted as a whole, yet, where the evidence of its non-enactment as a whole consists only in inferences, though strong, derivable from silence and omissions of statement from the journals, they cannot be held sufficient to overcome the presumptive evidence of the due enactment of the statute furnished by its enrollment, its attestation by the presiding officers of the two houses and the approval by the governor."

The Fort Scott poll tax law was knocked out by the supreme court in the case brought by C. R. Ashby for his release on a writ of habeas corpus. Ashby was arrested for his refusal to pay the tax. He brought proceedings to obtain his release in the supreme court. The court today held that the ordinance was in violation of the eighth hour law, and was therefore invalid.

"A man working on the streets of a city under an ordinance requiring the performance of two days' labor at ten hours per day or the payment of $3 in poll tax is a laborer for the city within the meaning of the eighth hour law," the court said. "The ordinance is therefore invalid."

He called on the governor at 9 o'clock and they were in conference for more than two hours. ## FALLOON WILL NOT CONTEST.

Declares That He Will Make No Further Effort to Get the Judgeship.

TOPEKA, Dec. 10.—(Special.) The scheme of Frank Elliott and a few other radical Pops in Northeastern Kansas to have James Falloon contest the election of District Judge-elect W. L. Stuart in the Brown-Doniphan-Nemaha district has failed to the ground. Falloon notified a friend of his at the state house today that he would not contest. Those urging him to do so claimed that the Pop state would seat him, regardless of the fact that he was defeated by over 200 majority. The plan was to try to find in a few big precincts where Stuart got his big majority and have the entire vote thrown out. The only trouble with this plan was that it would be shown that the Pop state had a majority of the members of the election board in each precinct and, therefore, it was impossible for the Republicans to commit fraud. Some of the Populist senators indicated that they would not be parties to any such high handed work and the deal for a contest has collapsed.

KANSAS SOCIALISTS REJOICE.

Greatly Pleased by the Election of a Socialist as Mayor of Haverhill, Mass.

TOPEKA, Dec. 10.—(Special.) The Populist leaders of Kansas have at last found something in the political line to rejoice over. It is the result of the municipal election in Haverhill, Mass., where a socialist is said to have been elected mayor. This was such refreshing news to the Pops, after the awful snow storm in Kansas on November 8, that a number of them joined in a congratulatory telegram to the mayor-elect of the little Massachusetts town today. The telegram was signed by Chief Justice Docke, Secretary of State Bush, State Superintendent
